

Call for improvisational musicians of contemporary music

Apply for a week of no-cost improvisation workshops led by teachers from 20 European music universities. Improvisation concerts by students and teachers. Networking with students from other European universities. Two spots will be awarded!

Time period:

- 1st March 2026, Travel to Lübeck University of Music
- 2–7 Workshops, concerts, lectures
- 7th / 8th March afternoon travel back
- + an online meeting beforehand between November and February, date will be announced

Participation is mandatory on all days

Costs: Travel and accommodation costs will be covered by Erasmus+ as follows:

- The time on site (mandatory for all 6 days) with a flat rate of €79.00 per day
- additional 1–2 travel days (definitely one arrival day and, if the return journey takes place on the day after the BIP, also a second return day) also with a flat rate of €79.00 per day
- a travel allowance of €309.00 or an increased travel allowance of €417.00 for climate-friendly travel (and possibly additional travel days if the trip takes longer)
- for students with fewer opportunities – criteria available in the Erasmus office – a top-up of €100.00 will be made available

Information: The ABPU has joined a European network for improvisation at universities (metric).

This means we can send two students who want to specialize in improvisation to the upcoming Intensive Programme (IP). Information about this network can be found at <https://metricimpro.eu/>.

Questions can be directed to karen.schlimp@bruckneruni.at

Application: Please apply with a short letter of motivation.

1. Name, address, field of study, instrument(s)
2. Improvisation experience (which genres, how long, lessons by, projects...)
3. Motivation

Send your application by email by 27 October to ikd-institutsdirektion@bruckneruni.at

With the subject line: Application Metric Impro IP